Elsewhere.

Denver, Col., Nov. 8.—Returns from the State coming in slowly. One hundred and seventy-nine precincts give Grant 1,329 majority, and Belford 1,157 with six city precincts yet to hear from. Latest indications make Belford elected. Ex-Senator Chaffee conceded the county to the Democrats by about 500. The Senate and House are still in doubt. It has been the most bitter fight Colorado ever had.

Leavenworth, Kan., Nov. 8.—The State is conceded to Grant by a majority of from one to three thousand. Bonger is elected by a majority in excess of his ticket. Governor Grant has twelve hundred majority in Arapahoe county.

LOUISIANA.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 8.—The Republican committee give Kellogg a majority in the Third district of 4,000 over Acton, and 1,800 over both Acton and Beattie.

The Times, a Democrat paper, commenting on the election of Kellogg and his campaign in the Third district, has it that the Republican party in this State can be organized and the Democrats will act wisely by putting their house in order for a deep struggle, which the Republican party will make in 1884.

TENNESSEE.
NASHVILLE, Nov. 8.—From complete returns from twenty-five counties of the State and partial returns from other Democratic central towns, the estimated majority of Bates over Hawkins, Republican, for governor, is thirty thousand.

LAFAYETTE, Nov. 8.—Thomas B. Wood, Democrat, carries this county for Congress over Ward by 1,000 majority. The Republicans here lose their senator and elect their two representatives.

ILLINOIS.
CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Footings for Chicago and Cook county just completed show Democratic majorities except on Sheriff, of from 1,500 to 3,000, making a wide variance in the vote on the State ticket. This city county cast 80,000 votes and gives Orlandford, Democrat, 15,000 plurality for Governor on the county ticket.

ARKANSAS.
LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 8.—Returns from all points of the state do not show the results of democrats elected to congress, but the total vote was not more than half polled; there being a contest in the third district which the republicans conceded to Jones, democrat, by 1,000 majority, but which the democrats claim by 2,000.

KENTUCKY.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 8.—The Republicans have all day claimed four congressmen but returns so far indicate the election of but one in the ninth district who has a majority of 1,500. It is impossible to tell the result from the first district. Advice point to the reelection of Turner, Democrat.

NEBRASKA.
OMAHA, Nov. 8.—The returns in the State come in very slow, but enough has been heard to show that the Republican State ticket gets about 1,500 majority, except Clark, who defeated Stortevant, the candidate for treasurer by 2,500. In the Third district the election is claimed by both parties.

NORTH CAROLINA.

ocrat, for Congressman at large, by a thousand majority. The Democrats have elected every Congressman except in the Second district, where there was no opposition to Chas. The Legislature is Democratic.

DELAWARE.
WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 8.—Complete returns give Stokely, Democrat, a majority of 1,535 for Congress.

NEW YORK.
BUFFALO, Nov. 8.—The election of Cleveland as Governor was celebrated by the firing of cannon.

Bob Ingersoll.
DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 8.—Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, who lectures here to-night, was interviewed as to his views on the political situation, and answering the question of what caused the great political reaction, he said: First, extravagant opinions; second, they have reduced taxation at least seventy-five per cent, and twenty millions should have been taken from the burdens borne by the people. They should have taken from sugar the entire tax; also from tobacco.

The republican party should have taken such steps that all international taxation could in one year from now be abolished. People are tired of paying large taxes. They want collectors, and treasury agents, and gaugers, and all sorts of detectives and spies abolished. Third—The republicans should not have postponed the tariff commission. Fourth—The prominent republican have been trying to kill each other. We have too many politicians and not enough statesmen. The fight against Cornell was unfortunate. Pennsylvania was tired of Cameron rule, and everywhere their services have been hated and distrusted.

"What will be the effect upon the Presidential contest in 1884," asked the reporter?

"It looks to me now that General Sherman will be the next president. Republicans will be compelled to take such a man as General Sherman, and Sherman is only such a man now that I know. Stalwarts, half breeds, reformers, civil service gentlemen, can all unite on General Sherman."

What Arabi Has to Say of Own and Egypt's Troubles.
From The London Telegraph.

"None of you," said Arabi, "can understand Egypt or Egyptian politics. We in many ways resemble Mexico. You call yourselves the champions of liberty, and would send us back into the most abject serfdom. You are great and powerful, but I cannot respect you. This Tewfik, in whose cause you have made so grand a display, is utterly contemptible—well-meaning possibly, like Louis XVI, but a prey to the worst advisers. He is not so bad as his father. I admit, nor so silly and useless as his brother, but the wickedness of his counselors makes up for such deficiencies.

Tewfik, in spite of the unanimous desire of the country to the contrary, is a man who, for nearly sixty days, has been the servant of another. If you like to give him a tutor who will whisper to him all day long, but if not the Turkish and Circassian regime will be re-established, and the bastinado be rampant as of yore, and I do not know what will be the result. I would wish to be banished from Egypt forever. My heart is sick of Egypt. I would like to see the European with my family, and trouble me no more for my dream in the past, and I was deceived. Quietly, Ha, ha! How could I live otherwise? Liars say that I filled my purse when in office. I am a very poor man, have only one little house near Zagazig, where I was born. My palace at Cairo is not mine—was only let to me as Minister. I am very poor, indeed, and if you set me free shall have to work for my living and my family. But you will give us up to our enemies. I feel a presentiment of that," he concluded quietly, "and it will soon be all over—all over."

"When we declared war did you think we were in earnest?" I asked idly.

"No!" replied Arabi, with emphasis, "and that was one of the most dreadful moments in my life. Your Seymour sent me a message that he would bombard the city at 8 the next morning. I laughed, for I thought, 'Half the wealth of Alexandria is English, and they surely will not wreck their own property.' I lay awake all night thinking, growing surer and more sure, and dawn came, and 8 o'clock struck, and there was no unusual noise, and I breathed freely and turned to sleep. At 8:30 I heard the first gun, and it set me to shivering, for I heard in the knell of established hopes, and wondered who would win the victory? You are a great nation," he repeated. "You can afford to be generous and great to Cete-wayo, a savage, and surely should be to me. Treat me as you treated Cete-wayo, and I will be satisfied."

They left the polls indignant, one of them flourishing a knife. Deputy Sheriff Neely attempted to arrest one man, when his confederate presented a pistol and shot him mortally.

English Opinion.
LONDON, Nov. 8.—The News, commenting on the election in the United States, says: They indicate the breadth of the great party which conducted the war to a successful ending; a reorganized south and a restored finance of the country. It adds that the elections are a thoroughly well-deserved rebuke to President Arthur and his friends, and that the republican leaders perceiving its meaning, will do as they have done before—renew their pledges to amend their ways.

Whisky Men.
LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 8.—At a meeting of the Kentucky Distilling association to-day, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That it is the object of this meeting that the bill now before the Senate of the United States should pass at this session of congress, and that any bill looking to the extension of the bonded period of whisky now in bond, and representing the same extension of whisky to be made is unjust, and we will oppose any such bill.

Lawlessness in Ogden.
OGDEN, Utah, Nov. 8.—Owing to heavy snow storms along the Oregon Short Line in Idaho, large gangs of thieves and desperadoes have flocked here, and the city police are powerless. Highway robberies are of nightly occurrence; and the Mormon authorities are helpless to protect the citizens. A vigilance committee and hanging, as the only means of relief, are being agitated. Last night a farmer named Peak was garroted on the principal business street by two thieves and almost beaten to death. While insensible he was robbed of $1,300. No clue to the robbers.

Journalist Duels.
The killing of a citizen by an editor at St. Louis has revived stories of Journalist duels of the past. One of them, from New York. Eighty years ago James Cheetham, an Englishman, edited the American Citizen, while William Coleman edited the Evening Post. A quarrel occurred between these two journalists, and the result was that Coleman challenged Cheetham but the latter wisely declined. One of his friends, however, well known as Captain Thompson took up the quarrel, and according to the ridiculous code of honor, Coleman sent him a challenge. These two men, who had no personal antagonism, met in Love Lane (as it was then called) and Thompson was shot. Coleman was the only New York man that ever killed his man in "affairs of honor." He remained at the head of the Post until his death in 1817, and was then succeeded by Bryant. Love Lane, at the time referred to, was a distant suburb, but now, as Twenty-second street, is the center of the city.—Chicago Herald.

Railroad Accident.
BANGOR, Me., Nov. 8.—A special train which left Bangor this morning, with President Jackson, General Superintendent Tucker and Directors Davis and Bacon of the Maine Central Railroad, and President Phillips of the Eastern railroad, came in collision with the regular train at Lincoln and three people were hurt. One passenger had a leg broken. The locomotive of the special train was thoroughly demolished, and several members of the railway party received cuts and bruises. Superintendent Tucker got a bad wound on his head, but it is not dangerous.

Narrow Escape.
BONHAM, Tex., Nov. 8.—Last night about 9 o'clock, while City Marshal Thornton and Deputy Sheriff McKee were waiting for the west-bound freight train, on the lookout for a man named Norton that had committed a murder at Blossom Prairie, Officer Thornton went down the road about 200 yards from the depot and while standing on the track a convict guard from Dodd City named Parnell came walking up the road in search of a convict that had just escaped. Officer Thornton ordered him to throw up his hands, and each party thinking he had found his man began firing. One ball passed through Parnell's coat at the left breast, who in turn put a ball through Thornton's clothes, slightly grazing the right hip. Parnell then retreated, but hearing Thornton call for Officer McKee to come to his assistance he returned and found that it was an officer he had encountered instead of the supposed convict. The parties returned to the depot and had a laugh over the mutual mistake, which had come so near being a serious affair. Norton was captured last night near Honey Grove.

Two Lucky People from Maine.
Augusta (Me.) Journal.
Two natives of Maine are just now creating quite a sensation in Europe. They are Lillian Norton, who was born in Farmington, and Frederick L. Gower, a native of Sedgwick. Every body has heard of Miss Norton's triumphs at St. Petersburg and Paris. She is twenty-four years old, and is the favorite soprano of Paris. Her parents removed to Boston when she was seven years old. At the age of seventeen she began her musical culture in the Boston Conservatory, where she remained three years. She then went to Milan. After her Italian course she was engaged by the Grand Opera House at St. Petersburg for $1,000 for the season. The next year her salary was doubled. She created a furor in St. Petersburg and in Moscow. She dined with the Czar and royal family. At Paris she is under a three years' engagement at $12,000 per year; has luxurious apartments, a carriage and liveried driver, etc. Her mother is with her, and has invited her father (Parson Allen) to come over and make them a visit. The engagement of Miss Norton to the Mr. Gower above mentioned is now announced. Gower has had remarkable success. He is thirty years of age, and is worth $1,500,000. He made his money in the formation of telephone companies in Europe. He recently sold his English interests for $500,000. He is now a large owner in French companies. His father died when he was two years old. He and his brother were educated by Mr. A. H. Abbott, of Farmington. Since his good fortune Gower has made a handsome return to Mr. Abbott, who visited this country last year and purchased a $25,000 house for his mother in Brookline, Mass. He put a $1,000 engagement ring on Miss Norton's finger. They will soon be married. He says "I was not a large owner in French companies. His father died when he was two years old.
